Keywords: Indigenous children/youth in care, Nuu-chah-nulth storytelling, Indigenous photography, Indigenous arts-based research, chronic pain

Acknowledgement: We raise our hands in deepest respect and gratitude to the ancestors and families of the ləkʷəŋən and WSÁNEĆ nations and to our own ancestors and Nations. We raise our hands to all Indigenous children and youth who have grown up in colonial systems, to those we have lost, and to those who survive, resist, and imagine justice and resurgence. INVINCIBLE is grateful for funding provided by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (Insight grant 435-2020-1191) and the Canet Foundation.

I'm a photographer and took the pictures in my story.

I love to photograph nature
and wildlife.

My story is about healing
from a traumatic event.

I created these designs by hand. It was a real struggle because I had a bad accident,
I fractured my hand and it hurts a lot.

I worked through my pain to do my artwork and it helped me reconnect with my art.

I'm grateful that my project
was like a new beginning.
