

Labour
Journal of Canadian Labour Studies
Le Travail
Revue d'Études Ouvrières Canadiennes

Contributors / Collaborateurs

Volume 75, 2015

URI : <https://id.erudit.org/iderudit/1030894ar>

Aller au sommaire du numéro

Éditeur(s)

Canadian Committee on Labour History

ISSN

0700-3862 (imprimé)

1911-4842 (numérique)

Découvrir la revue

Citer ce document

(2015). Contributors / Collaborateurs. Labour / Le Travail, 75, 7–8.

CONTRIBUTORS / COLLABORATEURS

Mikhail Bjorge is a PhD candidate at Queen's University, and his current research focuses on illegal and wildcat strikes during WWII. Previously, he was a letter carrier and shop steward for CUPW.

Enda Brophy is Assistant Professor in the School of Communication at Simon Fraser University.

Robert Campbell is an Associate Professor in the Shannon School of Business at Cape Breton University and author of Woman, War & Hypocrites (2010) and Governance and Social Leadership (2014).

Dominique Clément is an Associate Professor in the Department of Sociology at the University of Alberta. He is the author or editor of several books including Canada's Rights Revolution, Equality Deferred, Canada's Human Rights History, Alberta's Human Rights Story and Debating Dissent. His website, www.HistoryOfRights.ca, serves as a research and teaching portal on human rights in Canada.

Mélanie Dufour-Poirier is an Assistant Professor in Labour Relations at the School of Industrial Relations of the Université de Montréal. She is also a core researcher at the Interuniversity Research Centre on Globalization and Work (CRIMT). She holds a PhD in administration from HEC Montréal.

Mélanie Laroche is an Associate Professor in Labour Relations at the School of Industrial Relations of the Université de Montréal. She is also a core researcher at the Interuniversity Research Centre on Globalization and Work (CRIMT). She holds a PhD in Industrial Relations from Laval University, and a post-doctorate diploma from CRIMT and Warwick University.

Eryk Martin is a PhD candidate in the Department of History at Simon Fraser University. His SSHRC-funded dissertation examines the history of anarchist activism, politics, and culture in Canada from the late 1960s to the mid 1980s, with a particular focus on the urban guerrilla group Direct Action.

Bryan D. Palmer, Canada Research Chair at Trent University, and former editor of Labour/Le Travail, is the author, most recently, of Revolutionary Teamsters: The Minneapolis Truckers' Strikes of 1934 (2013). He is currently working with Gaetan Heroux on a study of the Toronto dispossessed from the founding of the House of Industry in the 1830s to the OCAP mobilizations of the 1990s.

Carmela Patrias teaches in the Department of History at Brock University. She is a social historian with a special interest in Canadian immigration, labour, and women's history. Her latest book is Jobs and Justice: Fighting Discrimination in Wartime Canada (Toronto, 2012).

Joan Sangster teaches in the Department of Gender and Women's Studies at Trent University. She has written articles and monographs on working women and the labour movement, the history of the Left, feminist historiography, the criminalization of women and girls, and Aboriginal women and the law. Her most recent book was Transforming Labour: Women and Work in Postwar Canada.

Jim Selby is currently a Research Officer with the Alberta Union of Provincial Employees. He was Research and Communications Director for the Alberta Federation of Labour from 1985 through 2009. He is a Board member of the Alberta Labour History Institute.

Andrew Stevens is an Assistant Professor in the Faculty of Business Administration at the University of Regina. His work examines the growth of temporary foreign workers in Saskatchewan, the political economy of offshoring, and the impacts of back-to-work legislation on labour relations.

Sean Tucker is an Associate Professor in the Faculty of Business Administration at the University of Regina. His research focuses on occupational health and safety with a focus on young workers.